PixRecovery.3.0.with.Serial DOWNLOAD: PixRecovery 3.0 with serial key is a freeware with the latest version 4.4.7 and it's a graphical software to recover pictures, damaged ones, from digital cameras. As the developer, I deeply apologize for making those bug. If you want you can do a donation via Paypal account with this email address: sales@getimagesoft.com or through an online payment service such as: On Mac OS: On Linux: Note: You'll have to add your Paypal email adress for both on-line and offline payments. As for the missing content of the program, I'm preparing a patch but I've a problem for the remaining content (text messages, images, contacts,.....). I need a permissions to upload images to use the files stored on the device, so if you want to download the patch, tell me and I'll send you the patch. Thanks and sorry for the inconvenience. A: firstly you need to upgrade to the latest version of PixRecovery - 4.4.7 which has been released on 1/8/2018. now to your question - how did you run the exe file? If you run the program while the digital camera is connected to the computer then the program will see the images and repair them. The program will show a window with pictures when the camera is connected. The pictures could be removed by the camera owner if the camera is connected and a user can connect to the camera at the same time to view the photos. so it's good you see the window when you run the program in this way. However there's an issue where the background images are missing, especially if you run the program in admin mode - the program needs to have the proper permissions to access the camera. there's f678ea9f9e
